Dear Danny,

It gives me great pleasure to write to you on behalf of the participants and the organizing committee of the Autoimmunity Conference. When you were asked to write and direct a play celebrating Professor Irun Cohen's 60th birthday, we knew it would be a professional challenge! You took a group of scientists, who had never performed before, and with a lot of patience, hard work and vision, turned them into amateur actors.

Your personality and combination of playwright skills, musical and directing talents helped the group to "open up" and bring out the best of themselves in this performance. The script (which was also printed in the souvenir program), was factual, funny and written in a sensitive and humorous manner.

We would not hesitate to contact you again in the future for a similar demanding and unusual task.

Sincerely yours,

Miri Finkelman
Manager, Conferences Division
